Mersuka Dopazo and Wexel Art Debut Their Collaboration: A Celebration of Women in Art and Design

Bali, Indonesia & Austin, Texas – [April 3, 2025] – Wexel Art, a pioneering force in modern lucite framing dedicated to elevating independent artists, proudly announces the debut of their collaboration with internationally acclaimed artist Mersuka Dopazo. Known for her bold, textured, and expressive mixed-media artwork, Dopazo has captivated collectors worldwide with her rare and sought-after pieces. Her work will be available as limited-edition signed prints, debuting with Wexel Art at High Point Market—giving designers an unparalleled opportunity to experience her artistry up close.

This collaboration showcases the power of women working together across continents. Although Mersuka Dopazo resides in Bali and Wexel Art is headquartered in Texas, their shared vision transcends geography, celebrating female entrepreneurship, creativity, and collaboration.

“Mersuka’s work is both rare and extraordinary, and we are honored to bring her artistry to a broader audience,” said Natasha McRee, Founder of Wexel Art. “Her pieces evoke emotion, movement, and resonate deeply with those intricate details—qualities that align perfectly with our mission. This collaboration represents not just a meeting of creative minds but also a celebration of women uplifting each other in business and the arts.”

Dopazo’s original works have become highly coveted, with collectors around the world recognizing the intrinsic value and rarity of her compositions. The limited-edition prints, each hand-signed and numbered by the artist, will allow a new audience to experience her unique aesthetic. High Point Market, the premier destination for interior designers, will serve as the stage for this unveiling, making it the first opportunity for the U.S. design community to access these remarkable pieces.

“I believe in the beauty of art bringing people together, no matter where we are in the world,” said Mersuka Dopazo. “Collaborating with Wexel Art allows my work to reach new spaces and new hearts, and I am thrilled to share this collection with the design community at High Point Market.”

The Wexel Art x Mersuka Dopazo collection will debut at High Point Market, where designers and industry professionals can be among the first to experience and acquire these extraordinary prints.
