FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Emily Baker Studio Launches Country House, a New Hand-Painted Wallpaper Collection - January 26

Emily Baker Studio is pleased to announce the launch of Country House, a new hand-painted watercolor wallpaper collection inspired by the textures and rhythms of rural life.

Country House is an homage to the simplicity of rural living — the worn tiles of a sunlit hallway, peonies blooming in a pantry window, and the tranquil pace of a lived-in home. From loosely painted washed stripes and checker tiles to thoughtful studies of hounds, horses, flowers, vegetables, birds, and insects, each design balances finely rendered detail with the organic imperfection inherent to the watercolor medium. Designed for interiors that balance comfort and heritage, the collection offers a fresh canvas for layered, soulful spaces — both nostalgic and contemporary.

Emily Baker is a creative director, photographer, illustrator, and painter known for her expressive, hand-painted patterns inspired by nature, memory, and place. Working primarily in watercolor, her designs balance a sense of tradition with a fresh, contemporary perspective.

Using wallpaper as a narrative medium, she translates lived experiences and familiar landscapes into repeat patterns that feel both intimate and transportive.
