Praised by the international Red Dot jury for its “clear, intuitive design,” INTEOS redefines the kitchen sink as a true workstation centerpiece. The spacious bowl, available up to 45 inches wide, easily accommodates large cookware and baking trays while maintaining a sleek, architectural presence. Designed for both stainless steel and SILGRANIT, BLANCO’s proprietary granite composite material, the uniform cutout system allows for effortless planning and installation, an innovation that impressed design professionals and homeowners alike.

“INTEOS embodies the balance of beauty and functionality that defines the BLANCO brand,” said Edyta Drutis, Vice President of Brand Marketing for BLANCO North America. “With thoughtfully crafted accessories, it gives users the freedom to personalize and optimize their kitchen experience. We are excited to bring this award-winning design to High Point Market and share how it transforms daily routines into inspired, intentional experiences.”

Design Innovation Across the BLANCO UNIT The BLANCOCULINA II faucet line continues BLANCO’s legacy of innovation and precision engineering. Combining refined aesthetics with exceptional usability, the new generation features minimalist detailing and a sleek, modern look. On display at High Point Market will be the BLANCOCULINA II Mini and Beverage faucets in matte black, a striking finish that complements the INTEOS workstation sink. The faucets are available in six finishes, including classic chrome, offering design flexibility and visual harmony across a variety of kitchen styles.

BLANCO’s award-winning organization system further completes the picture of functional beauty. On display at High Point Market will be the INTEOS Organizer XL and Small Caddy, two essential components that transform the space beneath the sink into an organized, accessible hub. Thoughtfully designed to store accessories and everyday cleaning items, these modular pieces help maintain an uncluttered work area while supporting the same seamless flow that defines INTEOS. The Red Dot jury recognized their well-considered functionality, clear structure, and harmonious design, highlighting BLANCO’s holistic approach to optimizing every aspect of the kitchen water place.
