Quorum Expands “Wall Art in Lighting” with Striking New Sconce Designs

Fort Worth, TX (April 6, 2026)— Quorum International announces the expansion of its innovative “Wall Art in Lighting” category, introducing a collection of sculptural sconces designed to transform walls into illuminated works of art. These new designs, which will showcase at the Spring High Point Market, blend form and function, offering versatile fixtures that can be installed individually or in multiples to create dramatic, customized visual compositions.

At the heart of this expansion is a design philosophy that treats lighting as both utility and artistic expression. Each fixture is thoughtfully engineered to enhance architectural surfaces through ambient glow, layered illumination, and distinctive silhouettes. Many pieces feature integrated backlighting elements that cast soft, indirect light, highlighting textures and creating depth across walls.

Following are some of the standout additions:

The Ondine Sconce, a fluid, modern design that evokes movement and elegance. Its sculptural silhouette and gentle illumination make it ideal for creating rhythmic, gallery-like wall arrangements when installed in series.

The Del Rey Sconce, now available in both Studio White and Matte Black, offers a bold yet refined aesthetic. Its clean geometry and contrasting finishes allow designers to explore repetition and pattern, making it a versatile choice for both residential and commercial applications.

Also joining the collection is the Virtue Sconce, which combines minimalist design with a striking presence. Its balanced proportions and subtle backlighting make it an excellent option for layered lighting schemes that emphasize architectural detail.

“These new designs reflect our commitment to pushing the boundaries of decorative lighting,” said David Patton, Director of Design, Quorum. “By creating fixtures that are meant to be used in multiples and interact with their surroundings, we’re giving designers and homeowners the tools to craft truly personalized lighting experiences.”

With the expansion of its “Wall Art in Lighting” category, Quorum continues to lead in design-forward solutions that merge artistry with performance—turning everyday lighting into a dynamic visual statement.

Attendees of the Spring High Point Market are invited to experience the new collection firsthand at Quorum’s showroom, located in Suites at Market Square, M1000A-B.
